Polity & Governance · GS - II

The distinction between adjournment, adjournment sine die and prorogation has important implications for parliamentary accountability and legislative flexibility. Examine the constitutional provisions governing these procedures and discuss their significance in the functioning of Parliament.

EXAM YEAR	PAPER	SUBJECT
DAILY PRACTICE 12/11/2026	GS - II	Polity & Governance

MARKS	WORD LIMIT
10	~150 words

Answer Hint

Article 85, Article 100, parliamentary calendar, Speaker and Chairman, President's powers, legislative continuity, parliamentary accountability, executive-legislature relations, constitutional conventions.

Model Answer

Introduction

Parliamentary procedures governing the termination and suspension of sittings ensure continuity of legislative business while maintaining constitutional accountability.

Constitutional and Procedural Framework

- Adjournment: The Presiding Officer suspends a sitting until a specified time or date.
- Adjournment sine die: The sitting ends without fixing the date of the next sitting, but the session continues.
- Prorogation: Under Article 85, the President formally terminates a parliamentary session.
- Summoning: The President summons Parliament, ensuring that the interval between two sessions does not exceed six months.

Significance for Parliamentary Functioning

1. Legislative continuity: Prorogation does not automatically lapse pending Bills, allowing legislative business to continue in subsequent sessions.
2. Executive accountability: Parliamentary sessions provide opportunities to question the government and scrutinise its policies.
3. Procedural flexibility: The government can advise prorogation, while the Presiding Officer manages adjournments.
4. Democratic deliberation: Timely sessions facilitate debate, scrutiny and representation of public concerns.

Conclusion

These procedures are not merely technical formalities. Their transparent and responsible use is essential for legislative efficiency, executive accountability and the effective functioning of parliamentary democracy.

BECOME IAS
AI POWERED UPSC PREP